Our Commitment

Guided by our core values, Sonoma State University offers an exceptional educational experience that fosters intellectual, cognitive, social, and personal growth. As the only member of the Council of Public Liberal Arts Colleges in California, we are uniquely positioned to foster ethical exploration, civic engagement, social responsibility, and global awareness combined with a solid foundation in an academic discipline. We have a strong commitment to graduating students who have the ability to think critically and communicate effectively in an ever-changing world. The unique campus culture fosters our Seawolf Commitment to integrity, respect, excellence, and responsibility and is integrated into all campus life. We nurture inclusive excellence through a celebration of the rich diversity of our local communities and our interconnected global economy. Members of the University community are expected to work effectively with faculty, staff, and students from diverse ethnic, cultural, and socioeconomic backgrounds. We are fully committed to the rights of students, staff and faculty with disabilities in accordance with applicable state and federal laws. SSU is especially interested in candidates who make contributions to equity and inclusion in the pursuit of excellence in teaching, scholarship, and service.

The University

Sonoma State University's beautiful 274-acre campus is located in Sonoma County wine country, an hour north of San Francisco. The campus offers the ideal setting for teaching and learning and access to a community of rich cultural, environmental, and recreational opportunities. Founded in 1960, Sonoma State University is one of the 23 campuses of the California State University System. As members of the largest public higher educational system in the nation, we provide accessible, high quality education to more than 9,000 students. Sonoma State University is proud to be a Hispanic Serving Institution committed to achieving the goals of equal opportunity and endeavors to employ faculty and staff reflecting the ethnic and cultural diversity of the region and state.

The Department

The Computer Science Department offers a Bachelor of Science degree with 250 majors, as well as a minor in computer science. The department faculty, five full-time tenured and tenure-track and one half time, is diverse, and their collective areas of expertise span theoretical as well as applied areas of computer science.

Our Bachelor of Science in Computer Science program is rooted in the proud tradition of a liberal arts education and is based on the IEEE/ACM Computer Science Curricula. Teaching excellence and mentoring students are central to our mission. We are committed to expanding and diversifying participation for groups traditionally underrepresented in computer science, and we strongly encourage faculty candidates with similar goals and relevant experience to apply. We promote close collaboration of faculty and students that leads to research projects that are worthy of publication, as well as software system projects with research and industrial applications. Our students come to us with diverse educational backgrounds. After graduation, most students accept jobs at a wide variety of companies including Apple, Broadcom, FIS Mobile, Google, IBM, Disney, and Sonoma Technology, while others pursue graduate studies. Prospective applicants are encouraged to visit the department's webpage at <http://cs.sonoma.edu/>.

Duties of the Position

The successful candidate will teach computer science courses across our Bachelor of Science curriculum, be responsible for teaching the equivalent of three courses (four units each) per semester, offer upper-division electives in his/her areas of expertise, and actively foster an undergraduate research program. In addition, a strong candidate will be able to engage students in directed study courses or capstone projects. Teaching excellence is an important cornerstone of this position. Those applying for this position are expected to teach some combination of lower-division and upper-division computer science courses, from among the courses currently offered by the Computer Science Department. Candidates are expected to support all aspects of their classes, e.g., to design course materials, develop homework and projects, devise and administer quizzes and exams, provide graded feedback to students, and hold office hours.
